ABSTRACT: Soviet press takes unusual step on Aug 8 of publicizing what it describes as Israel's nuclear-weapons capabilities; article in newspaper Moskovksi Komsomolyets repts that Israel's mil leadership 'dreams of getting the weapons of mass destruction'; repts that aim of Weizmann Institute of Science in Rehovot, Israel, is to produce nuclear research; says many specialists are convinced that Israel can produce nuclear warheads; article deals primarily with heavy Israeli expenditures on armaments, presumably to offset any misgivings among Soviet citizens about USSR's aid to Egypt, which failed to forestall ouster of mil personnel; repts Israel has bought weapons and mil materiel worth $3.7-billion abroad since June '67; says Israeli Army totals 300,000 soldiers and officers, has 1,200 tanks, 850 warplanes, 350 motorized guns, 96 rocket units and 52 warships; notes Israel not only has Phantom and Skyhawk jets from US but has now put its own supersonic jet into mass production and possess warships equipped with ship-to-ship rockets

Israeli scientists wave invented a machine which they say clears a common cold within a day.

But they admit they are not sure why the device, based on earlier theories of heat treatment, works.

Developed by Dr Arnon Yorushalmi of the Weizman Institute of Science at Rehovot, the small machine is fed with distilled water and then delivers humid air to the patient's nostrils at a steady rate, maintaining a constant temperature of 110 degrees Fahrenheit.

Dr Dov Opher of the state-run Kaplan Hospital told the army radio today he had treated hundreds of patients with a prototype machine and has found that one 30-minute treatment usually clears up a common cold within a day.

But he added that the cold virus was not Killed, and the reasons for the success of the treatment were not yet clear.

A medical equipment manufacturer is now making 20 machines to enable doctors to carry out widespread controlled testing.

In his first public speech since stepping down as secretary of state, Henry A. Kissinger cautions that peace in the Middle East must be pursued "with delicacy".

The inventor of "shuttle diplomacy" told a dinner here Thursday night that "peace is necessary and peace is inevitable."

However, he added in what seemed an implicit message to the Carter administration: "It must be sought with delicacy and understanding of the fragility of a state Israel which has had to struggle for every inch of its territory."

Kissinger painstakingly arranged three limited settlements between Israel and its Arab neighbors. The Carter administration is now laboring to arrange negotiations at Geneva by the end of the year toward an over-all settlement.

Kissinger received an honorary degree from Israel's Weizmann Institute of Science. He was honored as a "messenger of peace" and "the principal architect of international conciliation."

Since leaving office, Kissinger has concentrated on preparing his memoirs, and taken a lengthy vacation in Mexico. At President Carter's trequest, he has agreed to head a group to press for energy conservation. On Saturday will meet in New York with Prime Minister Itzhak Rabin of Israel, who is completing a week-long visit to the United States.

Describing himself as 'very moved by this occasion,' Kissinger said as the first Jewish secretary of state, his relationship, with Israel and the Jewish community has 'inevitably been complicated.

"Yet, none of us conscious of the travail and suffering of the Jewish people can ever forget their future is inextricably linked with peace and justice and freedom and security for all peoples," he said.

BODY:

A nonceloric sweetener 2,000 times as sweet as sugar and six times sweeter than seccharin may soon be available from Jafora, of Rehovot, one of Israel's major citrus-fruit processors. The sweetener is Neo-DHC (neohesperidin dihydrochalcone) and comes from naringin, a bitter food additive extracted from grapefruit peels. Organic chemists at the Weizmann Institute of Science in Rehovot have designed a pilot chemical plant for commercial production of the sweetening agent, which was discovered some years ago by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Jafora and other developers are awaiting clearance from the FDA.

The sugar substitute has a pleasant aftertaste similar to menthol or licorice. It is said to be effective in extremely low concentrations and breaks down into innocuous substances quickly and completely in the digestive system. Besides its obvious potential use in foods, Neo-DHC may find its way into soft drinks, chewing gum, mouthwashes, toothpastes, and might also be used to make bitter medicines more palatable.

BODY:

Research being conducted by the Weizmann Institute of Science in Rehovot, Israel can help pinpoint possible sites for disposal of nuclear waste. The technique introduced by Professor Eamnuel Mazor of the institute's Department of Environmental Sciences & Energy Research enables experts to determine with greater certainty whether a given aquifer of groundwater is old or relatively recent.

The researchers say that this distinction is critical in evaluating the safety of sites as potential storage sites. The method is currently being studied in Europe. The technique was first used to evaluate wells as potential nuclear depositories in a study conducted in Switzerland by Mazor's lab, in collaboration with scientists at the University of Geneva. The research was supported by NAGRA, the waste disposal branch of the Swiss nuclear energy authority, which has since commissioned other teams to carry out advanced studies on six wells.

In Sweden, an international team is applying the method to date wells at the Strippa iron mines, now being considered as a possible nuclear disposal site. Mazor points out that the water in the underground sites could be considered safe nuclear storage sites, as the water in them is unable to escape to the surface or to any other water channels.

BODY:

Weeds resistant to herbicides are threatening wheat fields around the globe and could become a problem in this country, researchers say.

According to one Israeli scientist, weeds pose a bigger menace than AIDS in poor nations where wheat is an essential food source.

Jonathan Gressel, a professor of plant science at the Weizmann Institute of Science in Rehovot, Israel, says chemical-resistant weeds already infest more than 1,000 wheat farms in Australia and more than a dozen in England, North American wheat is at risk as well, he said.

"This is just the beginning. We have to worry about it now," Gressel said in an interview at Iowa State University during the recent First International Crop Science Congress. "The problem isn't going away - it is growing exponentially."

Gressel, a pioneer researcher of herbicide resistance, addressed the congress, which attracted some 1,100 researchers from 85 countries.

Joe Antognini, national program director for weed science research at the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, said Monday that weed resistance to herbicides is serious but no cause for alarm.

"It's not something we should ignore," Antognini said. "We have to understand why some herbicides do this, why others don't do that, but as a practical matter, it's not something the farmer has to get frantic about."

Crop and herbicide rotation generally prevent/weed resistance, he said.

There are hundreds of reports of reports that this weed is resistant to that herbicide in Idaho or wherever, Antognini said. But when you boil it down to acreages, it's relatively small.

BOD Hartzler, a weed management specialist at lowa State, however, said he shared Gressel's concern. We haven't seen anything in the U.S. to this point, not to say it won't happen, he said.

But the threat is real, Hartzler said, 'especially when you look at the new herbicides that farmers are using. They all have the same mode of action - they block a single enzyme.'

And the impact on the average American consumer?

"Probably not much," Hartzler said. That's if the problem is controlled by rotating herbicides and other farm management practices.

"But in the worst-case scenario, if herbicides became ineffective," he said, "we'd have to restructure the whole farming system and food costs would go up."

Last year, the world's farmers produced about 609 million tons of wheat, researchers estimate.

Weeds are public enemies to Gressel. Among the most damaging to world food supplies, he said, are broomrape, which decimates beans in North Africa, and witchweed, which attacks grains sub-Saharan Africa and in southeast Asia.

Gressel said some weeds may reduce harvests by up to 50 percent in some of the world's poorest regions.

"As far as quality of life is concerned, that's worse than AIDS ... when it is expected to peak," he said.

The resistance to herbicides is especially prevalent where farmers grow the same crop - and use the same herbicide - year after year, Gressel said.

One defense is using smaller doses of chemicals, but such practices don't work in the long run and seem to have caused the Australian weed problems, he said.

The best defense for some farmers may be eliminating chemical weed-killers entirely. Gressel also advises rotating crops and changing herbicides each year. But the long-term solution is gene manipulation, he said. Anything else is a stopgap.

"The only way to truly curb the problem is to develop new genetically engineered varieties of wheat that can tolerate a wider range of herbicides, especially the less common ones," he said.

But he says it is hard to rally support for government help in fighting weeds.

"It doesn't have the political push that even malaria has, much less AIDS," he said.

A 33-year-old Florida researcher has set an endurance record by spending 69 days and 20 minutes under water. Aside from getting into the Guinness Book of Records, Richard Presley also managed to quit smoking and to focus public attention on underwater resources.

Presley's mission, funded by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (Nasa) and by private groups, sent him to a 15-by-six-meter research module at a depth of 10 meters in a Florida Keys lagoon.

"It was like living the dream of Jules Verne," he said after coming up. "I missed my family and friends, not being out in the sun and not being able to shoot pool."

The previous world underwater record of 59 days, nine hours and 13 minutes was set by a team of Nasa and government researchers in 1969.

During the first 30 days of underwater living, Presley and two fellow aquanauts carried out experiments that helped Nasa understand the stress of prolonged space stays. His two colleagues emerged when the month was up but Presley stayed, aiming to surpass the underwater record by 10 days.

He spent him time conducting experiments such as observing an undersea herb garden and growing fresh vegetables using solutions instead of soil. His stamina under water was also tested.

OZONE IN THE BATHROOM

A bathtub that circulates ozone-enriched water and claims to reduce tension, improve breathing, blood circulation and the metabolism, treat rheumatic conditions and heal scars is being manufactured and sold here. The Keter plastics company is selling the bathtub, which is called (what else? ) the Alexis Million Dollars.

A device on the wall sends hot air under pressure through 100 holes on the bottom of the tub. Enriched oxygen (ozone, with three atoms instead of two) can also be introduced into the water; a variety of researchers maintain that ozone can improve a variety of conditions, from eczema to bad nerves.

The massaging bathtub is sold for NIS 1,200 and easily installed in the space of a conventional tub.

Participants in the science institute conduct lab research in a selected field under the guidance of Weizmann scientists. They also travel to Jerusalem and stay at the Ein Gedi Field School for five days of research on the wildlife, geology, climate and ecology of the area.

Meanwhile, the Rehovot institute is also host to 30 outstanding undergraduates from 11 countries attending the Kupcinet International Science School. These high-level students conduct research for 10 weeks to four months. Most of them are from the US and a few are from Israel, while others have arrived from the CIS, Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania, Spain, Germany, Australia, France and Mexico.

AFTER THE BIG BANG

In divine terms, eternity passes like the blinking of an eye. Now University of Maryland astronomers say they have managed to reduce 15 billion years of the history of the universe to a 36-second silent video.

The computer-generated tape lacks a plot or characters, but its producers believe it is the most precise description so far of the motion of galaxies after the Big Bang. They say it could help provide better estimates of relative cosmic distances, find new galactic clusters and predict the universe's ultimate fate.

Edward Shaya, who presented the video at a meeting of the American Astronomical Society, said the only scene shows 569 blue bubbles representing an estimated 2,300 groups of galaxies within 100 million light years of Earth. A single yellow bubble represents the galaxy group that includes our Milky Way.

The bubbles begin when they are evenly distributed. But as the universe expands, the bubbles start to form swirls and voids as they feel the tug of each other's gravity. Each galaxy group consists of two or more galaxies; each galaxy contains up to several hundred billion stars.

The tape is based on a new mathematical method developed by Shaya's colleagues to estimate where galaxy clusters were when the universe was young. In calculating the image, the astronomers found that only a relatively small amount of gravity was needed to push and pull the universe into its present shape. That suggests, Shaya said, the universe contains only 20 percent of the matter needed to eventually halt its expansion. Scientists have long debated whether the universe will continue to expand in the wake of the Big Bang, or, at some point, stop and begin to contract.

The E.F. Hutton Group yesterday announced the formation of a company to market advances in gene-splicing and other biotechnolgy. The new company, DNA Science Inc., based in New York, has entered into a research agreement with the Yeda Research and Development Company of Rehovot, Israel. Under the agreement, pNA Science and Yeda have formed a jointly owned company, Taglit Inc., which means ''discovery'' in Hebrew, that will fund research projects at the Weizmann' Institute of Science in Rehovot.

Taglit will be responsible for the potential development and marketing of 19 continuing research projects at the Weizmann Institute and other selected research groups, and the company is committing $25 million over five years in research funds and capital resources.

According to Aharon Meytahl, managing director of Yeda: ''DNA Science will have $50 million from E.F. Huttton and other financial investors from the United States. When they have that, they will invest $25 million into Taglit.''

Robert Formon, chairman and chief executive officer of the E.F. Hutton Group Inc., said he did not anticipate any return from E.F. Hutton Group's involvement in DNA Science for the foreseeable future.

Other Projects

The Weizmann Institute is one of only a dozen laboratories around the world involved in the development of interferon, an antiviral agent used in the fight aggainst cancer. Other projects planned include research into monoclonal antibodies - a new technique for getting large amounts of single antibodies - a new antiviral vaccine, new photochemical solar energy collectors and genetically engineered agricultural products, such as new strains of wheat.

Chosen as president and chief executive 🕲 DVA Science was E. Russell Eggers, 49 years old, former president and chief executive of the Loctite Corporation, a specialty chemical company, and a former president of Bendix International.

''It's a company that's not trying to raise its money publicly,'' Mr. Eggers said. "There will be a substantial amount of money raised, but with sophisticated institutional investors. We feel you should build a company before you take it public."

BODY:

The U.S. Supreme Court's decision earlier this month allowing patents on bacteria created through recombinant DNA once again drew worldwide attention to a handful of genetic engineering firms. No company was more prominent in press reports than Cetus Corp., the Berkeley, Calif., firm generally considered to be the leader in the field of biotechnology. And no man was more often quoted than Cetus president Peter J. Farley, who helped found Cetus nine years ago and now, at age 40, has become the industry's unofficial spokesman.

Meeting Farley can be a little disconcerting. Anyone with both a medical degree and an M.B.A. might cause that reaction, especially if he heads one of the most exciting companies in the U.S., and talks glibly about revolutionizing the pharmaceutical and chemical industries. But Pete Farley -- as he introduces himself -- could pass for the coach of a Little League team. Big, affable, with an easy Irish smile, Farley is "a weird and rare combination of genius and nice guy, ' says a colleague.

But Farley doesn't mince words. •We intend to see Cetus emerge in the mid-1980s as a major factor in several major industries, he says, chomping on an expensive cigar and trying to ignore a small mountain of pink callback slips near the phone, awaiting his attention. Farley is fond of talking about "building another IBM" in Cetus, a view he would clearly like to promote with the press, the public and the investors who have poured millions of dollars into what is obviously a long-range venture.

There is a reasonable chance that Farley will make good on his brag. Already, Cetus has developed a yeast strain that is currently being tested by National Distillers & Chemical Corp. and promises at least 30% improved efficiency over conventional methods for the conversion of biomass to ethyl alcohol used in 'gasohol' blends. And in April the company announced that it had developed a 'bug' that will allow complete conversion of glucose to fructose, a feat that when commercialized will radically alter the $7-billion domestic sweetener market.

And "there are a lot of other projects under way that we can't talk about," Farley says. One of those is the company's workpon interferon, an antiviral substance being tested in cancer treatment. Cetus is working with Weizman Institute of Science in Israel ( Rehovot) on methods that may lead to production of the substance in quantities large enough to permit more thorough testing. Farley takes his greatest pride in his work on interferon.

These projects are proof for Farley that he is on the right track -- a track

Scientists who did pioneering research work on how cancer begins and what sustains it have won $100,000 prizes from the General Motors Cancer Research Foundation.

Three researchers from the United States and one from Israel are recipients of the largest cash awards in cancer research in presentation ceremonies Wednesday.

Winners of the tax-free $100,000 prizes and gold medals are Dr. Elwood V. Jensen, 60, director of the Ben May Laboratory for Cancer Research at the University of Chicago, and Dr. Isaac Berenblum, 76, professor emeritus at the Weizmann Institute of Science in Rehovot, Israel.

The other $100,000 prize is shared by Dr. James A. Miller, 65, and Dr. Elizabeth C. Miller, 60, a husband-wife team from the University of Wisconsin.

Jensen is honored for work on the hormone treatment of cancer, Berenblum for discovering that cancer is a multi-stage process, and the Millers for finding how many chemical cancer agents work in the body.

This is the second year in which the international prizes have been awarded by the foundation established in 1978 by the automaker, which pays the taxes on the awards.

Winners of the prizes were selected from more than 300 entries from around the world by a panel of scientists chosen without company involvement.

Dr. Joseph Fortner of Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York, president of the foundation, told a news briefing that the work being honored "clearly signal giant steps in the control of cancer."

Jensen discovered estrogen receptor proteins in breast cancer that led to identifying tumors that are likely to be sensitive to hormones. Tests for this

Scientists from Chicago, Wisconsin and Israel have been chosen to receive $100,000 prizes from the General Motors Cancer Research Foundation, the foundation announced.

Elwood V. Jensen, director of the Ben May Laboratory for Cancer Research at the University of Chicago, will receive the foundation's Charles F. Kettering Award for work on the role of estrogen receptors in tissue in choosing the best treatment for breast cancer.

The husband and wife team of James A. and Elizabeth C. Miller of the McCardle Laboratory for Cancer Research at the University of Wisconsin in Madison will receive the Charles S. Mott Award for their elucidation of how chemicals can cause cancer.

Isaac Berenblum, retired professor in the department of experimental biology at the Weizmann Institute of Science in Rehovot, Israel, will receive the Alfred P. Sloan Jr. Award for his work on chemically-caused tumors.

The prizes will be presented in a Washington ceremony June 18. The recipients were announced Tuesday. GM established the prizes with a $2 million grant to the foundation in 1978 in honor of three of the automaker's key executives.

HEADLINE: Polypeptide shows promise in treating multiple sclerosis

BODY:

Tests to treat multiple sclerosis with a polypeptide show some promise. Researchers at the Weizman Institute of Science (Rehovot, Israel) have used the drug, called COP, to arrest and prevent a laboratory-induced disease like MS in primates. Early trials on humans are inconclusive. Three of the four MS patients treated showed no improvement, but their conditions did not worsen. The fourth improved but later relapsed.

REQUESTED CI-3B TO PROVIDE BUFFALO BACKGROUND INFORMATION ON WEIZMANN INSTITUTE OF SCIENCE, REHOVOT, ISRAEL. CI-3B OFFERS THE FOLLOWING:

A SEARCH OF FBIHQ INDICES WAS NEGATIVE REGARDING THE WEIZMANN INSTITUTE.

ACCORDING TO OPEN SOURCE LITERATURE, THE WEIZMANN INSTITUTE WAS OPENED AT THE END OF WORLD WAR II BY A GROUP OF ISRAELI SCIENTISTS, NOTABLY ONE DR. ERNST DAVID BERGMANN WHO IS GENERALLY CONSIDERED A PIONEER IN ISRAELI NUCLEAR RESEARCH. DR. BERGMANN IS ALLEGED TO HAVE WORKED PERIODICALLY ON BEHALF OF THE ISRAELI THE INSTITUTE IS NAMED AFTER A WELL-KNOWN ISRAELI GOVERNMENT. SCIENTIST AND ZIONIST, ONE DR. CHAIM WEIZMANN. DR. WEIZMANN, A RUSSIAN-BORN JEW NOW DECEASED, IS BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN AN ACCOMPLISHED BIO-CHEMIST IN THE 1940S. OPEN SOURCES ALLEGE THAT DR. WEIZMANN TAUGHT AND CONDUCTED RESEARCH IN MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY IN ENGLAND. THE ABOVE IS PROVIDED FOR GENERAL INFORMATION ONLY. THERE IS NO FBI REPORTING WHICH CORROBORATES THIS INFORMATION. CAUTION SHOULD BE EXERCISED IN THE USE OF THIS INFORMATION AS THE SOURCE IS UNVERIFIABLE.

RECENTLY, MAJOR NEWSPAPERS HAVE IDENTIFIED THE WEIZMANN INSTITUTE, LOCATED IN SOUTH TEL-AVIV, ISRAEL, AS A RESEARCH

CENTER FOR ROBOTICS, BIO-TECHNOLOGY, MEDICINE, ENERGY DEVELOPMENT AND OTHER HIGH-TECHNOLOGY ISSUES. THE INSTITUTE HAS AN "AMERICAN-COMMITTEE FOR THE WEIZMANN INSTITUTE," WHICH OPERATES IN THE UNITED STATES FROM NEW YORK CITY, CHICAGO AND POSSIBLY OTHER MAJOR METROPOLITAN CITIES. THE COMMITTEE ENGAGES IN FUND-RAISING, HOSTS LECTURES ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND ENGAGES IN PUBLIC RELATIONS ON BEHALF OF THE WEIZMANN INSTITUTE.

IN 1972, THE WASHINGTON POST NEWSPAPER PUBLISHED AN ARTICLE IN WHICH IT ALLEGED THAT THE SOVIET NEWSPAPER "MOSKOVSKI KOMSOMOLYTES" REPORTED THAT THE GOAL OF THE WEIZMANN INSTITUTE OF SCIENCE WAS TO ENGAGE IN NUCLEAR RESEARCH. THE SOVIET NEWSPAPER ALSO ALLEGED THAT ISRAEL COULD PRODUCE NUCLEAR WARHEADS AT THAT TIME.

IN 1990, THE WASHINGTON POST PRINTED AN ARTICLE INDICATING THAT THE WEIZMANN INSTITUTE HAD APPLIED TO PURCHASE U.S. SUPERCOMPUTERS WHICH COULD BE USED TO DESIGN SMALLER, LIGHTER NUCLEAR WARHEADS. HOWEVER, IT IS POSSIBLE THAT THESE COMPUTERS COULD SERVE OTHER PURPOSES BEYOND NUCLEAR WEAPON DEVELOPMENT.

ALLEGED TO HAVE BEEN THE CHIEF OF ISRAEL'S NUCLEAR POLICY IN THE 1970S. DR. FREIER WAS QUOTED AS ADVISING THAT, "OUR (ISRAELI) POLICY (NUCLEAR POLICY) ALLOWS EVERYONE WHO WANTS TO READ HOPE INTO IT (NUCLEAR WEAPONS) TO READ HOPE, EVERYONE WHO WANTS TO READ FEAR TO READ FEAR AND EVERYONE WHO WANTS NOT TO THINK ABOUT IT TO NOT THINK ABOUT IT." CI-3B CONSIDERS THIS SIGNIFICANT DUE TO DR. FREIER'S POSSIBLE TIES TO BOTH THE WEIZMANN, INSTITUTE AND THE ISRAELI GOVERNMENT.

CI-3B BELIEVES THAT THE WEIZMANN INSTITUTE IS AN ACADEMIC ORGANIZATION WHICH CONDUCTS RESEARCH IN HIGH-TECHNOLOGY ISSUE AREAS, INCLUDING THEORETICAL ASPECTS OF NUCLEAR AND CONVENTIONAL WEAPONS DEVELOPMENT. THE WEIZMANN INSTITUTE IS BELIEVED TO BE A PRIVATE INSTITUTION. HOWEVER, A REVIEW OF NUMEROUS NEWSPAPER ARTICLES SUGGESTS THAT THE WEIZMANN INSTITUTE EMPLOYS FORMER ISRAELI GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS, IS CONSULTED BY THE ISRAELI GOVERNMENT REGARDING SPECIALIZED RESEARCH AREAS AND OFTEN SERVES AS A "REVOLVING-DOOR" FOR ISRAELI NATIONALS TO MOVE BETWEEN THE PRIVATE SECTOR AND GOVERNMENT POSITIONS.

CI-3B AGAIN EMPHASIZES THAT INFORMATION CONTAINED FROM OPEN-SOURCES IS SUBMITTED FOR GENERAL CONSIDERATION ONLY AND SHOULD NOT NECESSARILY BE USED FOR INVESTIGATIVE JUSTIFICATION WITHOUT
